About Milan, Italy

Milan, the vibrant capital of Italy's Lombardy region, is a global hub for fashion, finance, and culture. Known for its stunning architecture, the city boasts iconic landmarks such as the magnificent Duomo di Milano, one of the largest Gothic cathedrals in the world, and the Galleria Vittorio Emanuele II, a luxurious 19th-century shopping arcade. Milan is also home to Santa Maria delle Grazie, where Leonardo da Vinci's masterpiece The Last Supper is displayed. As the heart of Italy's fashion industry, the city hosts the prestigious Milan Fashion Week, attracting top designers and brands. Beyond fashion, Milan is an economic powerhouse, housing the Italian Stock Exchange and serving as a key financial center in Europe. The city's rich culinary heritage offers delicious specialties like Risotto alla Milanese and Ossobuco, while football fans can experience the electric atmosphere at San Siro Stadium, home to AC Milan and Inter Milan.
